Two features of the youth program of Christ Lutheran Church are scheduled for Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. The Intermediate Luther League, for those of junior high school age, will present a dramatic skit entitled "We Interrupt This Program," which depicts the excitement that occurs throughout the world when a coded message is received from outer space — apparently from intelligent beings on another planet in a distant galaxy.

The cast of characters includes "Nick Beet," a disk jockey, Brad Parish; "Percy Brown," director of a news bureau, Bill Schwartz; "Walter Cronk," a Washington correspondent, Phil Koons; "Dr. Albert Lipson," chief scientific adviser to the president of the United States, Chip Hanson; "Pauline Kendrichs," United Nations correspondent, Virginia Danfelt; "Anastas Zuslov," Russian ambassador to the U.N., Warran Jones; "Edward R. Nevens," London correspondent, Dean Benson; "Dr. Oswald Blake," chairman of the Royal Interplanetary Society, Steve Koons; "Tom," a teen-ager, Kirk Stroup; "Ann," another teen-ager, Cassie Weaver. Following the dramatic sit, a discussion on the Christian's interpretation of the possibility of life in outer space will be led by Prof. Herbert Stroup, dean and faculty member at the Lutheran Seminary.

TO DISCUSS WORK CAMPS

Members of the Senior Luther League and their parents will see a filmstrip, "Shadow of a Shad," which will present the various work camp opportunities which are available to youth of senior high school age. The pastor, Dr. Robert W. Koons, will explain financial assistance available for the transportation expenses of young people who serve in work camps within the territory of the United States. Fourteen work camps are sponsored by the Luther League of the Lutheran Church in America, and one such work camp is located in Tanzania (formerly Tanganyika), Africa. (Continued on Page 3)

Chambersburg police picked up Reed while Sheriff Dawson Miller took Mrs. McElvey into custody. Cpl. Charles J. Todd, who brought the burglary and larceny charge against the two while stationed here, and who is now stationed at Carlisle, Friday night brought a charge against Reed of larceny and pointing a deadly weapon. Corporal Todd said Reed allegedly stole a .22 caliber pistol and a hunting knife February 15 from his brother, David N. Reed, Carlisle R. D., and threatened David Reed with the pistol.

Ranger 8 Sends 7,000 Close-up Photos Of Moon Today, Then Crashes Into Sea Of Tranquility; Is Called Dusty Plain

By RALPH DIGHTON

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Ranger 8 returned more than 7,000 close-ups of the moon today and scientists said they should be at least as good as the historic first batch of photos from its predecessor, Ranger 7.

The insect-shaped spacecraft crashed at 4:57 a.m. EST into the Sea of Tranquility, a dusty plain tabbed as a possible landing site for astronauts five years in the future.

A rousing cheer from a crowd of 300 at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, which made and guided the Ranger, went up at the moment of impact.

EXCELLENT SIGNALS

Later, at a news conference, Ranger project director Harris Schurmeier, said: "The video signals look excellent, and the pictures probably will be at least as good as those from Ranger 7."

Ranger 8's cameras were turned on when the craft was 1,350 miles above the lunar surface, streaking in at about 4,400 expected them to be better, due to technical improvements and more favorable lighting of the lunar surface.

Scientists turned on Ranger 8's six cameras 10 minutes earlier than originally planned, and as a result expected to get nearly double the 4,316 shots obtained last July 31 from Ranger 7.

NEAR TARGET

Ranger pictures in the final seconds before impact are rated about 2,000 times better than photos through earth telescopes.

Impact was only 15 miles from the target point selected when the craft was launched from Cape Kennedy, Fla., Wednesday.

The first six shots in the Ranger moon probe series failed to achieve their missions.

Ranger 8's cameras were turned on when the craft was 1,350 miles above the lunar surface, streaking in at about 4,400 miles per hour.

234,000-MILE TRIP

Ranger 8's 234,000-mile voyage took about 66 hours and, except for a late-hour decision to run its cameras 10 minutes longer than originally planned, was virtually a duplicate of Ranger 7's flight.

Running the cameras longer enabled Ranger 8, sweeping from left to right across the face of the moon, to take pictures of huge craters and a mountainous area west of the broad plan around the target point.

A team of five scientists was expected to discuss late today just how many pictures Ranger 8 obtained and give some idea of what they show about the lunar surface.

SUPERIOR PICTURES

Scientists expected Ranger 8's pictures to be superior to those of Ranger 7 because of technical (Continued on Page 2)

Prisoner Begins Life Sentence

Alton Blair Clark, 39-year-old New Oxford mailman found guilty last week by an Adams County court on two first degree murder charges, this morning was removed from the Adams County jail to the Eastern Penitentiary at Philadelphia to begin a life sentence.

Sheriff Dawson Miller and Deputy J. Clair Sanders drove Clark to the prison where he will, following usual procedure, be taken to the diagnostic center to determine which state prison will house him as he begins his long sentence. The sheriff, his deputy and Clark left at 7:45 o'clock this morning.

Clark was found guilty of slaying his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mae Beatrice Kuhn, 58, and his wife, Mrs. Dolores Laura Clark, 36, both of New Oxford R. 1, in the driveway outside the Kuhn Convalescent home on the night of October 11.

SCHOOLMEN TO BE TOLD ABOUT SCHOLARSHIPS

The February meeting of the Adams County Schoolmen's organization will be held next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in Room 230 of the Student Union building on the college campus.

Kenneth R. Reeker, director of the Higher Education Assistance Agency, will discuss "Scholarship and Financial Assistance for Students." He has been employed since last July by the federal agency that deals with the procedures and the operation of scholarships and loans for students. His office is presently attached to the state Department of Public Instruction.

Adams County's total of proposed construction includes 100 miles of primary road and 83 miles of secondary roads to be built at a cost of $86,950,000.

PRIMARY ROADS

Sections of road on the "primary list" for Adams County, a list which the governor said was not necessarily complete, includes the Lincoln Highway all the way across the county — including the bypass around Gettysburg; the new Gettysburg-Harrisburg Rd.; the Carlisle Pike from Chambersburg to the Cumberland County line; the Gettysburg-Hanover Rd. through Bonneaville and McSherrystown from Gettysburg to the York County line; the Littlestown Rd. from Gettysburg through Littlestown.

Route 194, the Littlestown-Hanover Rd., from the Maryland line to the York County line; the Sunshine Trail from Franklin County to the Maryland line; the road through Caledonia to Hunter's Run from the Franklin County line to the Cumberland County line; the Fairfield to Zora road.

Secondary roads to be rebuilt during the next decade include: Hanover-Carlisle pike from York Springs to the Cumberland County line.

Route 234 from the Lincoln Highway at Mt. Newman through the Narrows to Arendtsville, Biglerville and Heidlersburg

TWO MEETINGS ON SPRAYERS

Two meetings on "Sprays and Sprayers for Field Crops" will be held Wednesday morning and afternoon, County Agent Thomas E. Piper announced today.

The first session will be held at 9:30 in the morning at the vocational agriculture shop in the New Oxford High School. The other is scheduled for 1:30 that afternoon in the vocational agriculture shop of the Fairfield High School.

Sprayer calibration, maintenance and care will be discussed by Arthur Myers, extension agricultural engineer. County Agent Piper said. George Berggren, extension agronomist from Pennsylvania State University, will discuss rates, materials and time of application for chemical weed control.

Sprayers to be used in the meetings will be provided by Conway T. Smith and Hilly Rife Jr., both of New Oxford R. 1; Calvin Bream, Gettysburg R. 3, and R. Lloyd Hartman, Fairfield R. 1.

County Agent Piper urged farmers to bring nozzles from their own sprayers to the meetings to have them tested for distribution pattern.

Local Liquor Sales Up Three Per Cent

Adams County's two state liquor stores had sales totaling $562,407 during the last year, according to a report by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board.

The sales placed the county 47th in liquor sales in the state, the same position held by the county in the prior year. 1964 sales in the county were up nearly three per cent from the prior year.

DAR CONTEST

(Continued from Page 1) held at the seminary Old Dorm at 2 p.m. in the form of a joint session with the Adams County Historical Society.

J. M. SHEADS SPEAKS

Jacob Melchior Sheads, head of the history department at Gettysburg High School, spoke on the life of George Washington at Friday's session held as a Washington's birthday party.

He presented human interest stories from the life of Washington, including details of Washington's two trips through Adams County, one through the southern part of the county along the Monocacy Trail and the other along the Pittsburgh Pike while returning from putting down the Whiskey Rebellion. During that trip the nation's first President stayed at Russell's Tavern, near Van Dyke's Corner.

PRaised MISS SACHS

Sheads distributed a three-page questionnaire on the life of Washington which he normally gives to his high school classes. He answered a number of questions and had members of the DAR answer other questions.

During the course of his talk he praised Miss Grace Sachs, who was present for the meeting, as a teacher, holding that many of the stories concerning Washington that he uses today he recalls from attendance at her classes.

Mrs. Clarence Smith, regent, presided at the meeting. Mrs. Augustine was in charge of party decorations.

Ranger 8

Today's shots were snapped near the moon's shadow line, thus were expected to have more contrast and better definition of detail because of long shadows cast by mountains, rocks and other features. The shadows could reveal craters to shallow or too small for Ranger 7 to detect.

SEA OF CLOUDS"

Ranger 7 crashed in the Mar Nubium, or Sea of Clouds, which later was renamed the Mare Cognitum, or "Sea that has become known." It is about 1,000 miles west of the Sea of Tranquillity.

Tranquillity is lighter than Cognitum. Scientists believe this may mean its surface is smoother and thus more suitable for man's landings, planned for this decade. Findings of the Ranger series—another shot is slated for next month—are expected to help in design of moon landing equipment and selection of the astronauts' landing point.

FIELD OF VISION

Field of vision for Ranger 8's cameras ranged from an area of 200 to 300 miles at camera turn-on, down to an area the size of a city lot in the final second.

This was the sequence of events as Ranger 8 approached the moon: Ninety minutes before impact, engineers at Goldstone Tracking Station, 150 miles east of Pasadena, sent a series of commands calling for a final maneuver, then sent another command to cancel it.

This was necessary because a pre-impact maneuver to line up

UPPER ADAMS FARMERS VISIT FARMS, PLANTS

Adams County's farmers must continue to tell the world that they "are on the move" if they are to continue in business, Cecil R. Snyder, agricultural teacher at Biglerville High School, said Friday after Upper Adams Young Farmers toured two fruit operations, the Visit Center on the battlefield and two beef and cattle farms.

At Mountain Orchard Cooperative, Inc., Aspers, John B. Peters, president and manager of the organization, told the group: "When I was a boy of 15, we grew, sprayed, picked, graded, packed and sold apples on my father's farm. Today, this isn't practical since in those early days, my parents canned, dried, preserved, etc., food sufficient to last nearly a year. Today, the average housewife goes to the store once, twice or more often weekly. She wants graded fruit and vegetables sufficient for a week at a time instead of a year. Therefore, the advantage of this large cold storage and packing operation enables numerous fruit growers to go together and store, pack and market their fruit over a longer season and the experienced help put up a pack that is very uniform because they work over a period of months instead of days. They sell fruit all over the U. S. and export apples too, under a well known label."

At the Orrtanna plant of Knouse Foods Cooperative, Inc., Ernest Under conducted the Young Farmers through the apple peeling rooms, processing, inspection and quality control departments, the warehouses, the cider plant and cold storage. The group lunched in the plant cafeteria.

Calvin F. Bream, R. 3, showed the group his two Harvestore silos from which silage is removed without hand labor by an auger which carries the silage out the yard. He grows about 50 acres of corn per year for his livestock.

The group was able to see only the slides at the Visitor Center at the Gettysburg National Park, where they stopped briefly.

The farm of Glenn L. Stern, R. 1, was fourth in the county last year in the Holstein breed. Stern discussed his feeding and health program with the group.

The annual Blue and Gold banquet of Biglerville Cub Pack 71 was held Thursday evening in fellowship hall of Trinity United Church of Christ, Biglerville, with approximately 115 persons attending. G. Heller, troop committee chairman, served as master of ceremonies and led group singing, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Kenneth Lawyer. Guests were Rev. Fred A. Trimble and son, Rev. and Mrs. Norman Wilson and daughter, Rev. and Mrs. John Witmer, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ecker and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sunbury and Paul Harney. Cub Scout napkin holder favors were made by Den 3, while Den 2 furnished covered wagons and tepees as table decorations. Den 2 presented the story of the Blue and Gold, and Den 3 gave impersonations of famous men in history. Richard Gaither spoke on the Webelos. The following awards were made by Cubmaster Robert Jones: Radford Brown, Alan Ecker, Mark Witmer, Bradley Lady and Johnnie McDonald, bobcat, Sterling Roth, gold and silver arrow point and two-year service star; Daniel White, wolf badge and gold and silver arrow points; James Frazier, assistant denner bar and one-year service star; Alan Leet, recruited badge and denner bar; David Garretson, bear badge, gold and silver arrow points and assistant denner bar; Craig Jones, recruiter badge and denner bar; Douglas Stern, wolf badge and gold and silver arrow points; Wade McClain, wolf badge and gold arrow point; Richard Gaither, wolf badge and recruiter badge; Richard Lawyer, recruiter badge; Kevin Jones, recruiter badge, and Jeffrey Coulson, recruiter badge and denner bar. ### "IF YOU PRAY"

If the road you tread is rocky . . . bad luck makes you bend low . . . pray for faith to follow through . . . and you will onward go . . . do not waste tears of self-pity . . . they will hamper your advance . . . whereas prayer will give the answers . . . to most any circumstance . . . many people do not realize . . . how much power prayer contains . . . they seem to be contented . . . to get wet when it rains . . . but the ones who seek the Master . . . and the love He has to give . . . find the precious treasures . . . that make life great to live . . . so it is I say to you . . . who have rough roads to trod . . . life will become smoother if . . . you pray with faith in God.

Damage Suit Is Filed After Crash

Damages "in excess of $2,500 but less than $5,000" are sought in an action in trespass brought by Richard F. and Marguerite M. Klunk, East Berlin, against Roy D. Ransom and Stella A. Wyatt, all of 107 N. Berlin Ave., New Oxford.

According to the complaint filed in the prothonotary's office for the Klunks by Attorney Ronald J. Hagarman the suit stems from an auto accident January 26 on the Hanover-Carlisle Rd. in Berwick Twp. when a car operated by Roy D. Wyatt and owned by Ransom and Stella A. Wyatt, traveling south, allegedly crashed head on into a car operated north by Richard F. Klunk in which Marguerite M. Klunk was a passenger.

According to the complaint, damage to the Klunk car totaled $1,900. Mrs. Klunk suffered multiple lacerations of the face which required 40 sutures to close and which have caused a number of scars of varying length to remain on her face, and also suffered contusions of the neck, back, legs and arms. She lost 10 weeks of work. Her husband, Richard Klunk, suffered multiple contusions of the neck, back, legs and arms and lost a week's work. Medical bills totaled $334.60.

Instructor Speaks On English Art

W. Richard Etchison, M.A., instructor in history and fine arts at Mount Saint Mary's College, Emmitsburg, addressed the faculty wives and guests of Hood College, Frederick, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. Austin Pearre, Frederick, Thursday.

His topic was the development of English ceramics during the period of 1750-1850, as illustrated by the toby jug. The toby jug, of which he is an ardent collector, was used as a decanter to hold a strong type of English ale called stingo, according to Prof. Etchison.

Etchison, who is a native of Frederick, holds a bachelor's degree from Mount Saint Mary's and his master's degree from the Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C.

TEN YEARS AGO

Adams County's National Guard unit ranks as tops among National Guard companies.

This morning Lt. Donald E. Doersom, commanding officer of the local Howitzer Co., 2nd Bn., 104th Armored Cavalry, received word from the Second Army that the local company has received a "superior" rating, as a result of the recent army inspection conducted by the inspector general's office of the second army.

The "superior" rating, highest that can be given, follows a similar rating received for field work at the National Guard encampment at Indianantown Gap last summer, and a "superior" rating in last year's IG inspection, thus marking the third consecutive time that the local unit has won the coveted top approval. At the inspection three years ago the unit received the "excellent" rating, next below "superior."

The Adams County commissioners today began consideration of replacement of two covered wooden bridges near Stone Jug when they learned that because of the condition of the ancient structures, children in the area are forced to walk a mile or more to meet the school bus.

The two bridges involved are within a few hundred feet of each other on the Stone Jug Road, one over the Conewago Creek and the other over Opossum Creek. The weights allowed, according to the engineer's opinion, is two tons on the one bridge, three tons on the other. School buses weigh about six tons.

A folding wheel chair presented by the Auxiliary of the Adams County Home to the home at the auxiliary's meeting there Thursday afternoon went into service immediately after the session.

The aluminum, light-weight, chair had been purchased to permit guests at the home who are unable to walk to enjoy being out on the lawn during the summer. But the chair received its first use for a male guest at the home, who lost a leg some months ago, to permit him to get out of bed for the first time in six months.

Nancy Lee Tate, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tate, Biglerville R. 2, has been named as Adams County's Apple Queen and will compete for the state title Tuesday at York.

Mrs. Thomas McCarthy, York St., was named "Valentine Queen" Saturday night at the annual dance held by the Beta Sigma Phi sorority to raise money for the building fund of the Adams County Free Library. Mrs. McCarthy, the former Miss Patricia Shearer, of Gettysburg, was selected just before the intermission in the dance held at the Hotel Gettysburg.

Charles H. Cashman, 79, Biglerville R. 1, died Sunday afternoon at 3:10 o'clock in a Harrisburg Hospital where he had been a patient for the last three months.

Mr. Cashman was a farmer most of his life and formerly was a road supervisor in Straban Twp. where he had lived for about 30 years, near Granite Station.

The First National Bank of Fairfield has been completely remodeled and the grand opening will be held Friday, from

Today's Talk

THE BILATERAL MIND

None of us sees anything exactly alike. We often call the attention of others to something that has deeply impressed us, only to be apparently rewarded with annoyance or lack of any interest whatsoever. How are we to know, however? It may be that we are the least appreciative.

We need to have a bilateral mind that will give us both sides of a question, as well as both sides of an opinion. The process that leads to a definite statement is often a long and tortuous one; therefore deserving consideration, not immediate dismissal. In democracy, like the United States, I believe that the two-party system is the best, so long as each party works for the overall good of all the people. It doesn't always work out as cheerfully as this, however. There is often too much partisanship, too much power politics, where one party rules too much or too often. Genuine cooperation is needed. It hurts one party to see the other one get credit for a good deed. As though glory could not be divided!

Often, when we read something by a person, we immediately form an opinion. But later, when we have had the opportunity to meet that one, we form a different opinion. How elastic our minds should be, so as to take in all truth and fact, and not just accept our own, or someone else's snap judgment. A bilateral mind should work out very well during these confusing and mystifying times.

The story of "The Prodigal Son," as told in the Bible, is an ever appealing one. It interested me so much that over the year I collected a half dozen or more interpretations of the story by various artists, all of course different, but all interesting. Each tells its own story as the artist imagined it. There could easily be scores of interpretations.

The closed mind is a tragic spectacle. It lets in no light, finally resulting in nothing more than a box of dead ideas. The open mind, and the bilateral mind, is the free, searching mind, seeking right solutions that will give the largest amount of good and happiness to the many.

Just Folks

BACHELORDOM

What do bachelors think about, Having but themselves to care for, No one running in and out, None to buy new things to wear for, No one on their knees to climb, None with shoes that should be mended? How do bachelors spend their time, When the busy day is ended?

Are the bachelors, night and day, As the saying goes, "In clover?" What, with business cares away, Do they find to worry over? Dull, I think, their nights must be; Boredom grim past all denying;

Never getting up to see What has set the baby crying.

Books and pipes don't seem enough;

Cards no source of self-forgetting.

Pride and peace need sterner stuff;

Both require long hours of fretting.

Hearts need fear and dread and doubt,

Rasping coughs and fever flurries,

Loved ones off to think about.

What do bachelors do for worries?

Mt. St. Mary's College cagers, giving one of its most impressive performances in a long time, won the Northern Division title of the Mason-Dixon Conference by crushing Western Maryland 90-65 Friday evening before a standing-room crowd of 1,800 at Westminster.

The Mountaineers, who finished the conference with a 12-2 record and an overall mark of 199-4, were on top all the way and were never in any serious trouble.

Mt. St. Mary's will be the scene of the conference tournament next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Quarter-final opponents on Thursday will include the Mount against Bridgewater, fourth-place team in the Southern Division; Western Maryland, fourth in the Northern Division, against Randolph-Macon, Southern titlist; Loyola vs. Roanoke, and Catholic University vs. Hampden-Sydney.

P. JOHNSTON SHINES

Pete Johnston, the Mounts' standout Sophomore, gave another fine performance with 10 field goals and six fouls for 26 points while holding the Terrors' ace, "Skip" Shear, to but nine tallies.

Johnston and John Carrell gave a torrid shooting performance in sending the Mount off to a 34-14 lead after 7:00 in the first half which ended 48-32.

Western Maryland started the second half with a run of seven straight points but Mike Johnston and Ed Folk came back for the Mount and Jim Phelan's outfit built up its lead again and then cracked the game wide open in the final seven minutes to win easily.

Carrell followed Johnston in the scoring with 17 points and Ed Folk netted 13. The Mountaineers netted 32 of 78 attempts. Ralph Wilson, a Freshman, was high man for the Terrors with 24. Western Maryland is 8-3 in the conference and 13-7 overall.

HAAG INJURED

Bernie Haag, Mount guard, suffered a slight concussion, cut chin and a sore ankle during a scramble for the ball with 11:45 left in the second half. He returned to watch the remainder of the game after receiving treatment.

CBS PURCHASE OF YANKEES IS NOT CLOUDED

CBS PURCHASE OF YANKEES IS NOT CLOUDED

By G. MILTON KELLY

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—CBS executives said today the Columbia Broadcasting System's purchase of the New York Yankees seems clear of any sign to fend off pay television in sports.

The Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee is investigating the $11.2 million deal, biggest in baseball's history, but never even mentioned pay-television in quizzing baseball and CBS executives in the first two days of hearings.

Chairman Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and chief counsel S. Jerry Cohen told a reporter the possibility had been explored carefully in preliminary investigations. They said they found no trace of such a motive.

VOTERS ACTED

Additionally, they said, they thought a California referendum last fall which vetoed pay-television had "pretty much taken care of the issue nationally."

There had been some speculation that CBS' purchase of the Yankees was a move to prevent pay TV from getting a strong position in baseball.

The hearings have centered, instead, on whether CBS gained a seat of unfair advantage in baseball's negotiation of profitable contracts for broadcasting World Series, All Star and weekend games.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick testified Friday that unfair advantage "is an impossibility" under baseball's rules.

American League President Joe Cronin and other top baseball officials agreed.

TO HEAR OTHERS

CBS President Frank Stanton and Yankee President Dan Topping had said the same thing Thursday.

Officials of the National Broadcasting Co. and American Broadcasting Co. will have a chance to testify when the hearings resume Tuesday.

Charles O. Finley, owner of the Kansas City Athletics, and Arthur Allyn, owner of the Chicago White Sox, who tried to block the Yankee-CBS deal, are to testify Wednesday, final day of the baseball phase of the hearings.

The subcommittee is considering a bill by Hart to strip baseball of its present blanket exemptions from antitrust laws, but spelling out some specific and uniform antitrust exemptions for the strictly sporting phases of pro football, basketball and hockey.

BILLY MILLS 3-MILE RACE OUT OF SHAPE

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Writer

Two Gettysburg College basketball teams will seek revenge for previous defeats tonight on the Bullets' floor.

Lehigh's varsity nipped the Bullets 62-58 at Bethlehem on January 9 while the Bullet Freshmen bowed the same evening.

"I haven't been able to train properly," the lieutenant now stationed at Camp Pendleton, Calif., said after his rousing triumph in the three-mile run Friday night in the opening session of the two-day AAU national indoor track championships.

The Marines had me on the banquet circuit after the Olympics, speaking at dinners, moving around. I just haven't been able to train properly until the last couple of weeks.

NOT IN SHAPE

"I'm still six weeks or two months away from being in shape, but I'm coming along fast now."

He came along fast last night, ripping off the three-mile in an American citizen's record 13:24. He blistered his left foot in the process and abandoned plans to run in the mile tonight in the AAU wind-up that combined for the first time both men's and women's championships.

The old citizen's record was 13:32.6 by New York's Pete Mc-Ardle. The indoor mark is 13:18.4 by Ron Clarke of Australia.

Only a sparse gathering of 4,978 was on hand to match Mills' fight off the challenge of Toronto's Dave Ellis and the brilliant broad jumping duel between Russia's Igor Ter-Ovanesyan and Ralph Boston.

WOMEN CHAMPS

Ter-Ovanesyan just edged Boston, competing unattached from Nashville, in the broad jump on a better second effort. Both had best jumps of 26-24, but the Russian's next best leap was 26-1, Boston's 26-14.

Women champions were Romania's Abe Hoffman, 21-11, in the half mile; Romania's 4,978 was on hand to match Mills' fight off the challenge of Toronto's Dave Ellis and the brilliant broad jumping duel between Russia's Igor Ter-Ovanesyan and Ralph Boston.

The Lakers, leaders in the NBA's Western Division, put on a 42-point spurt in the second period and pulled away to a decisive 67-48 halftime lead.

Liquid Fertilizers Give Same Results As Dry Feed If Applied At Equal Rate

By THOMAS E. PIPER

Adams County Farm Agent

Liquid fertilizers give about the same results as dry fertilizers. The form of the fertilizer which supplies the nutrients makes little difference to the plant.

A gallon of liquid fertilizer weighs approximately 10 pounds. It takes about 10 gallons of a liquid fertilizer to equal 100 pounds of dry fertilizer providing both materials are the same analysis. For instance, 10 gallons of 10-10-10 liquid fertilizer equals about 100 pounds of 10-10-10 dry fertilizer. This means that both the 10 gallons of the 10-10-10 liquid and the 100 pounds of the 10-10-10 dry fertilizer supplies 10 pounds of nitrogen, 10 pounds of phosphate and 10 pounds of potash.

To realize equal crop response from liquid and dry materials, apply both forms of fertilizer in the same manner. If the dry material is to be plowed down, so should the liquid. If the dry fertilizer is to be drilled at seeding, so should the liquid be drilled at seeding time. Therefore, liquid fertilizers give about the same results in crop production as do dry fertilizers if the materials are applied at equal rates and are properly placed in the soil.

FORAGE TEST SERVICE

If you are not one of the hundreds of Pennsylvania farmers who have already used the Penn State Forage Testing Service this season, consider doing so right away. The rush period is over, and both forage samples and feed program requests can be processed promptly.

In reality, forage testing analysis is only a minor part of the service available to users. The feeding program developed for over 85 per cent of those using the forage testing program provides a wealth of information that can help dairymen and other livestock farmers improve their returns.

Feeding suggestions can be tailored to the remaining supply of forage and grain, as well as feed costs. Individual recommendations are also made on protein levels, mineral needs, possible vitamin supplementation and animal health problems re-

TIPS FOR VEGETABLE GROWERS

New seed catalogs make good winter reading for gardeners, suggests J. O. Dutt, extension vegetable specialist at the Pennsylvania State University, who urges placing seed orders early to have the "varieties you want."

MULCH SHRUBS—When there's no snow and the ground is frozen, shrubs need some form of mulch, reminds A. O. Rasmussen, extension ornamental horticulturist at the Pennsylvania State University. Mulch provides an insulating blanket helping to prevent the soil from heaving because of alternate freezing and thawing.

KEEP BABY PIGS—Keep newborn pigs from chilling during cold weather, says Les Burdette, extension livestock specialist at the Pennsylvania State University. Cold, drafty, wet farrowing pens cause troubles with baby pigs.

10 years may be secured by a promissory note. Other loans are secured by mortgages.

Under certain circumstances building loans may be made to lessees of farms.

Further information on rural housing loans may be obtained at the county office of the Farmers Home Administration located in the Adams Electric Co-Operative Building, rear N. Stratton St.

Housing loans are made for the construction, repair, and remodeling of dwellings and essential farm buildings and to provide water for farmstead and household use.

In addition to major construction funds are available to modernize homes — add bathrooms, central heating, modern kitchens, and other home improvements, as well as to enlarge and remodel farm service buildings and put in related facilities such as paved feed lots, yard fences and driveways.

Farmers are reminded that now is the time to check cattle for grubs. Use rotenone as a dust or spray during February, March and April if animals are in fested. Always carefully read and follow directions on the container of any chemical you use.

ELIGIBILITY TESTS

The interest rate is four per cent per year on the unpaid balance of the loan. Loans may be scheduled for repayment over periods up to 33 years.

The proposed housing must be adequate to meet the family's needs yet modest in size and design.

To be eligible an applicant must own a farm or a housing site in a rural area; be unable to obtain the needed credit from other sources; and be without sufficient resources to provide the necessary housing on his own account.

He must also have or be able to obtain sufficient income to meet payments on existing debts, take care of his other expenses, and make the payments on the proposed loan.

UP TO COMMITTEE

The local county supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration will review building plans and inspect the housing construction as it progresses in order to make certain that the borrower obtains sound and acceptable construction.

The local county or area committee of the Farmers Home Administration determines the eligibility of applicants.

Farmers who need to enlarge or develop their farming operations in order to obtain enough income to pay for housing loans may obtain farm enlargement and development loans and farm management help from the Farmers Home Administration.

SECURITY REQUIRED

All loans are secured to the extent necessary to protect the government's interest. Small improvement loans made in amounts of less than $1,500 with repayments scheduled over periods up to 10 years may be secured by a promissory note. Other loans are secured by mortgages.

Under certain circumstances building loans may be made to lessees of farms.

Laird To Ask Appointment Of Rhodes To Vacant Post

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unless there's a sudden change of mood and plot, House Republicans appear ready on Tuesday to fill the last opening in their congressional leadership with conservative Rep. John J. Rhodes of Arizona.

The post — chairman of the policy committee — has been left dangling for weeks rather than risk a party clash. There were some suggestions the job be abolished or filled by appointment.

But Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the GOP caucus, said Friday the suggestions have been discarded and when the caucus opens Tuesday he will ask for nominations for the post.

NO KNOWN OPPOSITION

Representatives of the various factions in the parties — liberal, moderate and conservative — said they know of no move to oppose Rhodes.

"He's the only one running now," said one source. And a member of the liberal bloc declared, "no one's too unhappy about it, either."

If so, it would attest to the success of a harmony maneuver negotiated by the House Republican Leader, Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, and the two other members of the hierarchy, Laird and the assistant leader, Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois.

FORD'S FIRST BATTLE

Ford became GOP House leader last month when a revolt toppled Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana. Ford was no sooner in the job than he was rebuffed by his colleagues in trying to shake up the high command by bringing in one of his own supporters in place of Arends, Halleck's former right hand man.

Ford apparently chose not to risk a second battle over the policy post, coveted by Rhodes and Rep. Charles E. Goodell of New York, one of the "young Turks" who helped Ford dethrone Halleck.

AVOIDED CLASH

Ford killed two birds with one stone. With the agreement of Laird and Arends, Ford created a new leadership post of chairman of planning and research and gave it to Goodell without referring it to a vote of the GOP members.

Thus he rewarded Goodell and his group, took him out of the competition for the policy job and removed the elements of a showdown clash.

Also to be named Tuesday will be the other members of Goodell's planning and research committee, which is assigned to find long-range solutions and alternatives to administration legislation. This had been a function of the policy committee, which under the new setup will be limited to more immediate legislative problems.

The vacancy was created there, under new Republican rules, Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin had to choose between the policy job or his No. 1 GOP ranking on the Ways and Means Committee. He chose the Ways and Means position.

Mother Warns Dad Of Mass Deaths

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — "Johnnie, by the time you get home the kids and I will all be dead," Mrs. John E. Norval said to her husband on the telephone Friday.

Norval, 29, rushed home from work and found his wife and four children dead.

The wife, Helen Lucille, 24, of Ville Mare, recalled telling his brother, Gus, when they realized the entrance to the tunnel was closed.

ESCAPED THROUGH CRACK

But they escaped through a crack to find the campsite gone except for four buildings.

"There was twisted steel and wood scattered as far as the eye could see," said Jacques.

They told of hearing voices crying for help.

"We dug in the snow with our hands where the sounds seemed to come from, but then the voices came from somewhere else," Gus said.

It was nearly coffee time for the estimated 150 men at the copper mine when the avalanche slid down from Le Duc Glacier.

A dozen men had gone into the camp coffee shop for the morning break. "They never came out alive," said the brothers.

A helicopter shuttle service Friday plucked the estimated 100 uninjured survivors from the camp to a temporary rescue center at Chicamin River, Alaska.

Helicopters brought 22 injured men directly to Ketchikan for hospital treatment.

Castro Prisoners Name Rebel Bases

HAVANA (AP) — Two prisoners of Fidel Castro said in a radio broadcast that Cuban exile forces seem to overthrow Castro operate from bases in Costa Rica and Nicaragua.

The pair said the exiles, headed by Manuel Artime, the Bay of Pigs invasion leader, are armed with heavy machine-guns, bazookas, mortars and other weapons and are trained to infiltrate and raid Cuba.

One of the captives said he entered Cuba to pick a spot for Artime to set up an anti-Castro beachhead.

SURVIVORS DUG WAY TO SAFETY IN AVALANCHE

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP) — Survivors of the Granduc mining camp disaster told today of struggling with bare hands against an avalanche which swept them from a glacier just before coffee break time.

Many of the survivors held hope for miners still missing; the number is variously estimated between 17 and 25. Three bodies have been recovered.

"You can forget about them," said one of the men aboard the Alaska Ferry Taku, loaned for the rescue effort by Alaska Gov. William Egan.

"Oh yes, they're dead," a companion added.

CONTINUE SEARCH

But searchers who still probed through snow and crushed buildings at the site held out some hope.

"It would be crazy to go in there with an attitude of no hope," said Col. W.H.V. Mathews, Canadian army coordinator of the rescue.

Among the survivors on the Taku were two brothers from Quebec, who were working deep in a tunnel when the slide struck Thursday morning.

"We may never get out here alive," Jacques Ritchie, 21, of Ville Mare, recalled telling his brother, Gus, when they realized the entrance to the tunnel was closed.

Senate Okays Amendment To Provide Leadership If President Loses Ability

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved unanimously a proposed constitutional amendment to prevent a breakdown in national leadership in the event of presidential disability.

The amendment, urged by President Johnson in a special message to Congress Jan. 28, was sent to the House Friday night by a 72-0 vote. Early action is expected there since committee hearings have been completed.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., chief sponsor of the proposed amendment, said action to assure continuity in executive leadership is imperative "now that we can destroy our entire civilization in a matter of minutes."

The vice president would become acting president if the chief executive should become incapacitated or otherwise be unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office.

The president could declare his own inability. Or, if he were unable or unwilling to do so, the vice president, with the concurrence of a majority of the Cabinet, could declare the President disabled.

Onso, made the statement under interrogation on a forced Havana radio-television appearance along with a fellow prisoner, Elpidio Delgado. The broadcast was monitored in Miami.

ing specific procedures into the Constitution, saying they might prove unworkable, but he was defeated 60 to 12.

The amendment also will need approval of at least two-thirds of the House. Then, to be added to the Constitution, it will require ratification by three-fourths of the state legislatures.

YANKS ARE IN AWKWARD SPOT IN S. VIET NAM

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE
SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — American officials in Viet Nam are in an awkward position because of inferences that they favored the overthrow of military strongman Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh.

"The Voice of America broadcast Friday night made it sound as if the coup was over and America favored the rebels," one of Khanh's staff officers said.

A month ago, an American news magazine published a report that Col. Phan Ngoc Thao had returned to Viet Nam at the behest of American officials with the mission of carrying out a coup against Khanh.

DENY REPORT

The report was immediately denied, both by Washington and by U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor. Nevertheless, the report was republished in several Vietnamese newspapers. It aroused widespread suspicion among top Vietnamese leaders.

DIRKSEN LOSES

Republican Senate Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois offered a substitute amendment that would have enabled Congress simply to provide by legislation for filling vice presidential vacancies and for dealing with presidential inability.

Dirksen argued against writing specific procedures into the Constitution, saying they might prove unworkable, but he was defeated 60 to 12.

The amendment also will need approval of at least two-thirds of the House. Then, to be added to the Constitution, it will require ratification by three-fourths of the state legislatures.

including Khanh himself.

Taylor and Khanh had had a public argument which never has been completely healed, and many Vietnamese officials feel it is possible Taylor had something to do with the latest coup attempt.

Taylor told the Associated Press an hour after the coup attempt began Friday that he had no idea what was going on, and that all he knew was that he had noticed unusual naval activity near the Saigon docks as he was driving back to the Embassy from lunch.

Two Arrested On Burglary Charges

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Police arrested two men in a North Philadelphia apartment Friday night on separate burglary charges.

Calvin Lewes, 25, was charged with taking $1,200 last Jan. 20 from the Broad Street Trust Co. William Burley, 33, was charged with possession of burglary tools.

Police said they moved in on the apartment to arrest Lewes, and found a burglary cache belonging to Burley at the same time.

NFL IGNORES OLD RIVAL AFL AT GRID MEET

Stamp News

By SYD KRONISH

India has issued a new stamp with a theme which is a departure from previous Indian issues, reports the World-wide Philatelic Agency. The new adhesive honors the visit of Pope Paul VI to that country and depicts St. Thomas who brought Christianity to India. Historians have traced the journeys to St. Thomas along the coast of the Persian Gulf and the Arabian Sea, founding Christian churches as he traveled. His influence was felt in Iran, Pakistan and India where he was martyred in the city of Madras. The new stamp from India shows a photograph of the bust portion of a radiant golden and bejeweled statue of St. Thomas from a church in southern India.

The deduction is based on the actions of the NFL owners as they concluded winter sessions and headed home today.

A common draft of player talent?

"I asked the owners if they were interested and none of them were."

This from Commissioner Pete Rozelle, who said he asked the owners the question only because the matter had been stirred up by the news media.

NO TITLE GAME

A championship game between the two leagues?

"It wasn't even mentioned," said Rozelle.

The fact that even the initials of the AFL had been mentioned in a formal NFL meeting was perhaps significant, but Rozelle didn't see it quite that way.

The NFL owners, he observed are aware of the presence of the other league.

"There have been poolside discussions about the AFL but..."

The impression was left that the AFL can go its way, the NFL its way.

TO MEET PLAYERS

The NFL owners, in another decision, agreed to meet with the NFL Players Association representatives in April to thrash out their various problems.

Among the more important requests by the players is a 50 per cent contribution to the player benefit plan from the radio-television receipts of the championship game.

The players would also like to include in their pension fund revenue from the College All-Star game and player endorsements of commercial products.

Ghana has issued three new stamps and a souvenir sheet to honor Human Rights Day. Two of the stamps depict George Washington Carver and the highest value shows Albert Einstein.

From Nationalist China on Formosa comes word via the Worldwide Philatelic Agency that two new stamps have been issued. One honors Hsu Kuang-Chi, scholar and statesman of the Ming Dynasty, and bears his portrait. The other is a set of four depicting local industries—pharmaceuticals, textile, cement and chemicals.

Ceylon reports the issuance of a new stamp for the International Industrial Exhibition and Trade Fair which will be held at the Haweck Race Course in Colombo in 1965. The stamp depicts exhibition buildings and also features the symbolic wheels of industry. The new stamp was printed in Hungary and this is a "first" for Ceylon postal authorities. Heretofore Ceylon stamps have been printed in England, Switzerland or the Netherlands.

Malawi issued the first Christmas stamps ever produced by an African nation. There are four values in the set. The design shows a world globe with the Star of Bethlehem shining down on it. The inscription at the top of the stamp reads "Peace & Goodwill Toward All Men."

To commemorate the second anniversary of the Treaty of New Zealand and Western Samoa, the latter has issued four new stamps. The one pence ochre, 8 pence deep blue, 2 shillings olive green and 3 shillings maroon are of identical design showing the ceremonial signing of the treaty between the New Zealand high commissioner and the samoan prime minister. It took place at Valine, the home of Robert Louis Stevenson.

The Yemen Arab Republic has issued a set of five new stamps to honor the inauguration of Sana International Airport. The two lower values show a jet plane flying over the airport. Other planes are lined up near the runways. The next two higher values depict a jet flying over Yemen. The highest value is an airmail and features a plane over the airport while another is ready for takeoff. The Yemen Arab Republic also is Austria has issued two new stamps of unusual design. One stamp honors the 40th anniversary of radio in Austria. The 1 schilling black, brown and red adhesive shows the front of a transistor radio and the emblem of the Austrian Radio System. The other new stamp is a 1.50 schilling black commemorating the "6th Congress of the International Graphical Federation." Depicted is an old printing press.

Eire honors the bicentenary of Wolfe Tone, one of the leaders of the Irish Insurrection of 1798, with two new stamps of identical design. Tone was born in Dublin in 1763 and studied law at Dublin University. He was the founder of the Society of United Irishmen, a republican movement whose objective was to unite all Irishmen regardless of religious persuasion, in the fight for freedom. In 1795 he fled to America and later to France to enlist armed support for his cause.

His naval force was intercepted by the British fleet and Tone was captured. He was sentenced to be hanged, but died in prison before execution. The new stamp bears a portrait of Tone. The 4-pence is black and the 1-schilling 3-pence is blue.

Collectors in this country wishing first day covers may write to Irish Cachet Covers, 947 East 32nd St., Brooklyn, N.Y. 11210. Cost of a complete set on cover is $1.00.

India has issued a new stamp commemorating the 104th birthday of Dr. W. M. Haffkine, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. Dr. Haffkine, a bacteriologist, earned recognition for his work to discover the cause and prevention of cholera. The new stamp is chestnut and plum in color and shows a portrait of Dr. Haffkine. The dates 1860-1963 appear on the borders of the stamp in English and Devanagari. Further reports from India indicate that there will be a stamp on May 22 honoring Raja Rammon Roy.

The Republic of China has issued a new stamp honoring the 100th anniversary of the birth of Wu Chin-hwei, a leader of the Chinese Communist Party. The stamp is chestnut and plum in color and shows a portrait of Dr. Wu. The dates 1860-1963 appear on the borders of the stamp in English and Devanagari. Further reports from India indicate that there will be a stamp on May 22 honoring Raja Rammon Roy.

Thailand has announced the issuance of four new stamps dedicated to "Letter Writing Week." One stamp shows a hand, a pigeon and a world map, a pen and pencil.

The third illustrates two girls, letters, pigeons and a map. The fourth depicts a hand holding a pen.

To honor the centenary of the foundation of its Folk High Schools, Norway has issued two new postage stamps, reports the Norwegian Post Office in Oslo. The 50 ore red and the 90 ore blue bear the neo-norse name "Noreg" as the country's name plus a double portrait of Anker and Olaus Arvesen.

The Folk High Schools have been of great importance to the cultural progress in Norway.

Originally the schools were privately endowed but now are state subsidized. There are 74 such schools in Norway with 5,800 pupils.

The 1965 edition of the Minus New American Stamp Catalog has just been released and is expected to be a sellout just as the previous 11 editions of this book. One of the major reasons for its popularity has been its readability — large type with plenty of white space and explanations of technical matters in layman's language.

Credit for this excellent compilation goes to editor Ben Blumenthal. Contributing editors are H. L. Lindquist and George A. Tiamsa.

It contains over 21,000 illustrations covering all commemoratives, regular issues, airmails, duck stamps, postal savings, revenue, postal cards and stationery, Confederate States, U.S. Possessions and stamps of the United Nations. The cost of the edition is $3 and Results from the patrols are reported good. No Americans are believed to have been captured or killed.

Under the 1962 Geneva accords, the United States is supposed to maintain a military hands-off policy in Laos. Washington has increasingly ignored the accords in face of violations by North Viet Nam which supposedly is providing arms and troops to the Pathet Lao.

The United States, working through South Viet Nam, is helping support at least one government force in Laos. The 33rd Royal Lao Battalion operating on the border near the Communist supply center of Tephone receives supplies through a U.S. Special Forces camp near the frontier. Supplies are flown from Laotian government bases in southern Laos, then sent overland back across the border into Laos.

QUESTIONS CHANCE

Some military sources question the worth of chancing a major incident because of support for Laotian government troops. But this force has destroyed a number of bridges used by North Vietnamese in their trek south. Theoretically it is also the first line of defense for South Viet Nam in case of major Communist attack along Route 9 into Quang Tri Province.

STUDENTS WIN BETTING POOL

CHICAGO (AP) — A group of DePaul students got together and made a basketball betting coup, it was revealed Friday night.

There was no fix involved and basketball players had any part of the action according to Ray Meyer, DePaul basketball coach and athletic director.

The group of six students, none of whom was identified, put up $200 each and made a $1,200 bet that DePaul would defeat Memphis State in a game played Jan. 5.

DePaul, favored by 16½ points, defeated Memphis State 99-70, enabling the group to win the bet.

When rumors of the bet reached Meyer, the coach lost no time in getting his basketball team together to make sure none of the players was involved.

Assured that no players had any part of the wager, Meyer then conducted an investigation which led him to the bettors.

"They told me what they had done," said Meyer, "and also revealed the name of a South Side bookmaker who had taken the bet. I read them the riot act. So far as DePaul and the team are concerned, they had no part of the transaction."

Hambletonian Jobs Remain In Family

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Donald M. Hayes has been named president of the Du Quoin State Fair to succeed his brother, Gene.

The DuQuoin Fair has been the scene of the famed Hambletonian Race since 1957.

Gene Hayes' son, Bill, assumes the vice presidency of the fair. D. W. Hayes, Don's son, is secretary.

"It is my sincere hope that the Hambletonian will remain in Du Quoin indefinitely," Hayes said.

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — Kuttawa businessman Howell Wiseman recalled tragedy of many years ago when he saw a younger boy jump over a railroad track near Paducah.

Wiseman told officers he thought the boy might have placed something on the rails. He drove back and removed 23 rocks and four pieces of metal before a train came along.

He said he recalled that a boy in Lyon County, Ky., once placed a spike on a track to see what would happen when a train ran over it. It wrecked the train.

Federal Law Idles 4,000 Japanese Laborers After Long Trek For Farm Work

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Nearly 1,200 Japanese laborers, who traveled thousands of miles from their homeland seeking farm work in this rich agricultural state, are idle because of a federal law.

There's a difference of opinion whether they're actually stranded, but for the moment one thing's certain: They're not going to be allowed to seek other employment.

The workers — 1,189 to be exact — are scattered from the lettuce-rich Salinas Valley in central California to the citrus groves in the southern portion of the state.

CAN'T GET WORK

They were brought over under Public Law 414, the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act, which prohibits them from working as long as a domestic labor supply exists. Moreover, the law excludes them from other work.

Yet they're still under farm contract, and State Employment Director Albert B. Tieburg says: "They're on stand-by because the jobs they were performing are no longer available."

The outlook is uncertain for the workers, California state employment officials concede.

"It's not a state problem," said Tieburg. "It's one for the immigration authorities and the U.S. Department of Labor."

DATE HARVEST

He explained that immigration officials have the power to repatriate the workers and the Labor Department controls the work force. He noted that Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz had blocked an attempt to recruit the Japanese in January for the date harvest in Coachella Valley.

Some of the Japanese have been in this country for more than two years and have been working with Mexican farm laborers in the California fields. But Public Law 78, which allowed thousands of Mexicans across the border to help pick the crops, expired at the end of last year, thus omitting the Japanese.

Patricia Neal Is Critical After Emergency Surgery Following Two Strokes

By GENE HANDSAKER

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Arriving from England last week, Oscar winner Patricia Neal looked radiantly well and spoke enthusiastically of the movie she was here to start.

Today she lies in the intensive care unit at the UCLA Medical Center, in critical condition after two strokes and emergency brain surgery.

Nearby were her husband, British mystery short-story writer Ronald Dahl, and their three children, Tessa, 8; Theo, 5, and Ophelia, 8 months.

FIRST STROKE WEDNESDAY

The first stroke — another in a series of misfortunes that have dogged the 39-year-old star's career — occurred Wednesday night.

A few hours earlier the tall, wavy blonde with the large, sultry eyes and velvet voice had done her first big scene in "Seven Women." She plays a woman doctor in the film, which John Ford is directing at MGM.

Rushed to the University of

ASKS LONGER PRISON TERM

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Milton W. Freeman, 20, of Philadelphia, was sentenced Thursday to six months in prison for impersonating a navy man, but he complained the term wasn't long enough.

Freeman appeared before U.S. District Court Judge Joseph S. Lord III and asked for a longer sentence. "So I can learn a trade in prison, your honor." He wants to learn the carpenter's trade.

At the suggestion of the court-appointed lawyer, Judge Lord sentenced Freeman under the youth correction act to an indeterminate sentence. He may thus remain in prison until he completes his training, if prison authorities permit.

"Just consider I'm sending you to school, Milton," Judge Lord said. "Good luck to you. I think you're a sensible boy and I hope you learn a trade and become a real good citizen."

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Astronaut M. Scott Carpenter is in good condition and probably will leave the hospital this afternoon after a one-hour operation for removal of a bone spur from his left wrist.

The 39-year-old Navy commander is expected to return to work in a week.

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — Ralph Enckell, 52, the Finnish ambassador to the United Nations, has been appointed ambassador to Stockholm, the Finnish Foreign Ministry announced Friday. The appointment is effective March 1.

death of Olivia, eldest of her four children, from measles at the age of 7 in 1962.

And 5-year-old Theo has been under doctors' care since he was 4 months old, when a taxi struck his baby buggy in New York. Much of the time since then he has been without sight.

After the accident Miss Neal, her husband and children moved to a large farmhouse at Great Missenden, 40 miles northwest of London.

A native of Packard, Ky., Miss Neal studied for two years at Northwestern University's School of Drama.

In 1945 she went to New York with $60 and much determination and ambition.

Critics hailed her first leading role — in "Another Part of the Forest," in 1946. It brought her the Antoinette Perry Award and the New York drama critics' best-actress award.

A Warner Bros. film contract followed.

YOUTH DID NOT SUICIDE

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — If Eugene McDonald's death wasn't suicide — who murdered him?

Sheriff Waldon Burr raised this question Thursday after a coroner's jury found the 23-year-old heir to the Zenith fortune had not taken his own life.

Since the night of Feb. 3, when McDonald's body was found, Burr and two of his investigators have said they were certain he committed suicide.

"If it hadn't been McDonald the case would have been closed that night," detective John Lyon said. "I'm not going to stop working on it, but it's hard for me to believe someone killed him. There's just no motive."

"We'll comply with the jury's decision," Burr said. "You can be sure if it was murder, we want to get the person who did it."

The differences between Burr and County Atty. Norman Green came out a week ago when Green appointed a political foe of Burr to aid in the investigation.

TO RESUME TALKS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The United Steelworkers Union is scheduled to resume contract talks with the can industry next Tuesday in New York but it still was not known today when negotiations with the steel industry will resume.

The resumption of talks with the can industry was announced Thursday by USW President David J. McDonald.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Paul J. Sachs, 86, a former New York banker and later a professor of fine arts at Harvard University, died Thursday.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Mrs. Joseph Cummings Chase, 83, widow of a famous portrait painter, died Thursday, 33 days after her husband's death.

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Malaysian troops rescued and captured eight Indonesian military men, including four officers, after their boat capsized off the eastern coast of Malaysian North Borneo, reports reaching here Friday said.

Viet Nam Envoy Supports Revolt

WASHINGTON (AP) — South Viet Nam's ambassador to the United States, Lt. Gen. Tran Thien Khiem, announced his full support for the military revolt against Gen. Nguyen Khanh.

He said in an interview Friday that if the present coup succeeds he will return to Saigon at the invitation of the coup leaders to give whatever help he can in returning his country to stability.

Khiem, who arrived here Nov. 22 as ambassador, has been living together for two years with his wife, Gen. Khanh's widow, Maria, whose blanket of white roses with the simple inscription, "Because I Love You So," covered the casket as it was borne to Forest Lawn Memorial Park, attended the last rites wearing a heavy black veil and a black dress.

The provocative Inger Stevens made this statement — about Khanh as a "dictator who created disorder in order to stay in power."

He said he had received a message from Col. Pham Ngoc Thao asking that "I get back to Saigon as soon as possible."

Red-Make Buses Too Small For Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Buses made in Communist lands have not worked out in Havana, but reconstructed General Motors buses are doing fine, a top Cuban transport ministry official said.

The capacity of buses made in Communist lands is too small for Havana, Jose Morales, deputy minister of transportation, said in a radio interview monitored in Miami Thursday night.

They are better suited for smaller towns in the provinces, Morales said. "A route serviced entirely by reconstructed General Motors buses has been initiated recently," Morales said. "In just three months, Cuban mechanics in Havana have rebuilt 26 buses."

"She'll have to move out of the house, of course," said Inger. "It was all right for her to stay there as long as they weren't engaged. Now it wouldn't be proper."

It may be a long engagement. At least the pair won't wed until next season — if then. "I think the producers plan to wait and see what the mail reaction will be to the idea of a marriage," the Swedish-born actress remarked. "Maybe people won't like the idea."

The production minds are already at work on a proper wedding — if it takes place. The idea is to stage it in Washington, preferably at cherry blossom time, with a member of each political party in the wedding.

Nat King Cole Laid To Rest

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Nat (King) Cole, mourned by family, public and reigning names of show business, was laid to rest Thursday, a victim of cancer at 45.

"He was a star — a tremendous success as an entertainer — an institution, but even a greater success as a man — as a husband — as a father, — as a friend," said lifelong friend Jack Benny, who delivered one of the eulogies in services at St. James Episcopal church.

Cole's widow, Maria, whose blanket of white roses with the simple inscription, "Because I Love You So," covered the casket as it was borne to Forest Lawn Memorial Park, attended the last rites wearing a heavy black veil and a black dress.

With her were five children, Carol, 20; Natalie, 15; Kelly, 6, and twins Timolin and Casey, 3.

Cole's three brothers, Edward, Fred and Ike, and his sister, Evelyn, were among the 500 inside the church. Outside, 1,500 spectators silently stood behind police lines.

Cole died Monday of lung cancer. His body was embalmed in a crypt adjoining those of co-medienne Gracie Allen and actor Alan Ladd.

BRUSSELS (AP) — King Baudouin, who has been suffering from the flu for the past few days, has a virus hepatitis which will confine him to his room for several weeks, the Belgian royal palace announced Thursday.

The production minds are already at work on a proper wedding — if it takes place. The idea is to stage it in Washington, preferably at cherry blossom time, with a member of each political party in the wedding.

West Berlin Girl Shortage Threatens Economy Of City

BERLIN (AP) — Wanted: Girls — and lots of them. They are needed in West Berlin, a city of a staggering female surplus.

The anguished cry for even more of the weaker sex is not a crazy notion. It comes from West Berlin city officials who are dead serious about it.

There are four women for every three men in West Berlin if you add up all age groups. But the ratio is almost reversed on marriage-age brackets.

"West Berlin is the only city in Germany which has such a substantial surplus of young men," laments Manfred Omankowsky, a top official in the West Berlin labor administration. "More girls are vitally needed here."

WALL A FACTOR

Like many others, this problem in Berlin has also something to do with the Communist wall that has divided the city since 1961. Tens of thousands of skilled workers who lived in East Berlin but were employed in the Western sectors could no longer commute after the wall went up.

To fill the gap, West Berlin city authorities, with a financial assist from the Bonn government, launched a recruiting drive to have West German workers come to the isolated city 150 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

BACHELOR BENEFITS

Up till now, almost 70,000 have followed the appeal, many of them young, eligible bachelors. West Berlin grants them various benefits, including lower income taxes and one-per cent loans that can be "fathered off" — local jargon for the provision that they need not be repaid if the newcomer raises a sufficiently large family.

In the early post-wall years, the male-female ratio for newcomers was 7-1. Now it is still 4-1.

MEN UNDATED

"West Berlin industry, with its emphasis on garments, food and electrical engineering, has a great demand for girl workers," Omankowsky explains. "But I guess many mothers were afraid to send their daughters unescorted into such a big city."

No matter what the cause, the girl shortage has led to a situation in which one of four young men in West Berlin cannot find a date.

NEED MORE FAMILIES

"Unless we find a remedy, the young men will leave West Berlin. The situation is a threat to West Berlin both economically and biologically. We are a city of over-aged people and we need more families."

"Sure, we have many women in Berlin. The surplus begins in the 30s bracket. Around 65 there are twice as many women as men in West Berlin," Omankowsky says.

The cosmetics industry has made great progress in the art of rejuvenating. But which man in his 20s can be expected to marry a woman 10 or 20 years his senior?"

Street Workers Cut Underground Cable

NEWTON, Kan. (AP) — Street workers thought they had trouble when they cut through an underground cable during a construction project.

But no sparks flew and nobody complained. A check with local utilities failed to disclose the owner of the cable.

After being convinced that the cable wasn't connected to anything, workers continued the construction.

College Dad Keeps Students Contacts

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — More than 30 college students throughout the country are non-paying subscribers to "Glock's Glorious Gabby Almanac of Useful College Information."

The weekly letter is put together by Milton Glock at his own expense.

After his son and daughter left for college, they wanted to keep track of their high school chums, so Glock offered his home as a clearing house for their letters.

To get on the mailing list, each student must write at least one letter every eight weeks.

Glock then edits the letters and includes the gist of each in his four-page mimeograph sheet.

4 KILLED IN HEAD-ON CRASH

INDIANA, Pa. (AP) — A couple and two Indiana Hospital nurses were killed and a 10-year-old girl was critically injured Thursday night in a two-car head-on crash on Route 119 about three miles south of here.

State police said a car driven by Mary Lenz, 22, of Dixonville, one of the nurses, veered across a grass divider strip on the four-lane highway and collided with an oncoming auto driven by George Shandick, 40, of Lucerne mines.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is seeking more information on a Soviet explosion which sent radioactive material into the atmosphere.

The underground blast occurred Jan. 15. The limited test ban treaty forbids nuclear explosions in which radioactivity passes beyond the testing nation's boundaries.

U.S. aircraft picked up traces of radioactivity in the Sea of Japan area.

Since then, the United States has said it is checking to see whether the Russians violated the treaty. The Soviets say the radioactivity leaked inadvertently and was insignificant.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hungary has expressed regret for last Saturday's student break-in at the U.S. legation in Budapest. State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said the apology was made Thursday to the U.S. charge d'affaires, Elim O'Shaughnessy, in Budapest.

Bela Szilagyi, deputy foreign minister for Hungary, was quoted as saying Hungary would take steps to prevent a reoccurrence, and that his government was "prepared to arrange compensation for damages."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists of the Geological Survey have prepared the first detailed contour map of a portion of the moon's surface, using a new technique they developed, the Interior Department announced today.

Hull, who lost the league scoring lead to teammate Stan Mikita in Wednesday's 5-4 victory over the New York Yankies, is hobbled with two injured knees.

In Wednesday's game, Hull was making a comeback after missing four games with a bad right knee. In the first period he pulled a ligament in his left knee.

The map was prepared from photographs taken last July by the Ranger 7 spacecraft near its point of impact with the moon.

A survey spokesman said similar photographs may be obtained by Ranger 8 Saturday.

Injuries Bench Top Hawk Scorer

CHICAGO (AP) — High-scoring Bobby Hull of the Chicago Black Hawks will miss the game at Toronto tonight and is a doubtful starter against the Boston Bruins in Chicago Stadium Sunday, the National Hockey League team said today.

On The House

By ANDY LANG

Ever had the experience of looking at an item of furniture (not your own, of course) that had the instant appearance of a homemade project — although you couldn't quite place your finger on what was wrong with it?

If so, the chances are there was very little, if anything, wrong with the construction. What made it look amateurish was the shoddy finish. It is curious how many home handymen will take great pains to construct something that is functional, pleasing to the eye and precisely made — only to spoil it all with an ill-conceived and careless finishing job.

The reason is probably psychological: Having turned out an article that took considerable time and attention, the worker can hardly wait to complete the final steps. He slaps on the finishing material and then calls the other members of the family to look over his handiwork. Naturally, everyone thinks it's wonderful. And considering the experience, or lack of it, it probably is. But it could have been a lot better if even half as much time had been taken with the finish as with the construction.

The number one rule of good finishing, therefore, is to take your time. It has been our experience, for instance, that you can not make a mistake by allowing a little more time between coats than the manufacturer recommends on the label of his product, but that you certainly can make a mistake by not allowing enough time. In using clear finishes, sandings between coats usually are essential to a good finish. And many final coats can be improved with light sanding or rubbing with either pumice and/or rottenstone. (The techniques of sanding, rubbing and applying varnish, shellac, lacquer and other finishes are detailed in Andy Lang's latest booklet, "Wood Finishing In The Home." # UCLA SNARES 28TH STRAIGHT WIN ON FRIDAY

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dennis Dafrman, the reluctant shooter of 1963 and 1964, is popping them in this year for the Arizona State Sun Devils.

The 22-year-old senior from Phoenix tallied 27 points to lead ASU to an upset 71-63 victory over the New Mexico Lobos in college basketball Friday night at Tempe.

UCLA, second-ranked nationally in The Associated Press poll, defeated Oregon State 73-55 for its 28th straight triumph in the Pacific Athletic Conference.

Cornell won its 15th straight by crushing Brown 96-61 and Penn State made it nine in a row by taking Colgate 85-76 in other top games.

SNAPS STREAK

Dairman, 6-foot-5, flipped in 12 field goals and three of six free throws as Arizona State snapped New Mexico's six-game winning streak and dropped the Lobos into a first place tie with Arizona in the Western Athletic Conference.

Arizona gained its share of the WAC lead by surviving a closing rally by Wyoming to beat the Cowboys 78-77 at Tucson. Wyoming, led by Flynn

Robinson's 33 points, rallied from 14 points down in the last four minutes, but just missed.

LOSES 30TH GAME

Steve Cram's 22 points paced Cornell in the Big Red romp over Brown at Ithaca boosting their Ivy League mark to 11-0. Princeton retained second place at 9-1 by handing Dartmouth its 30th straight Ivy setback 83-57 at Hanover. Harvard upset Penn 76-67 behind Keith Sedlacek's 32 points at Cambridge to virtually eliminate the Quakers from the Ivy race.

Bob Weiss' 28 points sparked Penn State over Colgate at Hamilton, N.Y., and upped the Nittany Lions' record to 16-3, their best in 11 years.

Gail Goodrich's 28 points led the UCLA Bruins to their victory over Oregon State in the feature of a PAC doubleheader at Los Angeles. In the opener Southern California crushed Oregon 77-56.

Larry Lakin's short jump shot with 43 seconds left gave North Carolina State a 62-61 victory over Clemson in an Atlantic Coast Conference doubleheader at Charlotte. North Carolina whipped South Carolina 76-63 in their opener.

In other games Stanford whipped Washington 65-56 at Seattle. Washington State downed California 60-53 at Pullman and DePaul sacked Portland 77-64 at Chicago.

Then a power shovel was used to scoop out a yawning trench in the backyard.

Warm air is piped to the pool from the garage, which is also where the water is heated and filtered.

Workmen Correct Break In Earth

CONCORD, Ala. (AP) — United States Steel construction workers are gouging a 3,300-foot-long tunnel through solid rock to correct a flaw in the earth's structure. The challenging project is going on 600 feet below the earth's surface in the Concord coal mine of the steel firm.

Millions of years ago, something happened to break a coal seam, leaving one segment 100 feet below the other. The tunnel is being built to reconnect the seams. Eight feet high and 17 feet wide, the tunnel will provide ventilation and track haulage to extensive coal reserves.

Heated Winter Pool Buried In Backyard

STORRS, Conn. (AP) — Dr. Arthur Shrager has two pools and one is buried — yes buried in his back yard.

It seems Shrager just couldn't accept the fact that when the cold months arrived he would have to stop swimming in his conventional outdoor pool.

He spotted a big, cylindrical metal tank one day and had it trucked to his home.

Then a power shovel was used to scoop out a yawning trench in the backyard.

Warm air is piped to the pool from the garage, which is also where the water is heated and filtered.

Retired Chauffeur Recalls Golden Days With Emperor

AMSTERDAM (AP) — Sixty-year-old Gerrit Hardeman — the one-time chauffeur of Germany's Emperor Wilhelm II — is a gardener nowadays, and seems satisfied with what life has brought him.

With a faint smile, he recalls the "golden days," when he was "Oscar," the Kaiser's chauffeur.

The entire imperial household and Wilhelm himself called him Oscar, a name they considered more suitable than Gerrit for an imperial chauffeur.

On Jan. 14, 1922, he entered the service of the Kaiser as private chauffeur. Wilhelm then resided in Holland at Huize Doorn, a castle-like mansion the Dutch government put at his disposal after his flight from Germany in the final days of World War I.

WORKS ON ESTATE

Today, 42 years later, Hardeman still works on the estate. But, instead of his smart chauffeur's uniform and high boots he now wears drab khaki gardener's overalls. His fingers clutch hoe and spade instead of fashionable wheels of swank limousines. His attention, once focused on the road surface, now penetrates to the lower layers of the Dutch soil as he plows and roots the earth for planting and weeding.

While getting his hands dirty he thinks back about the days when he detected the tiniest spot on his immaculate clean uniform.

The Emperor kidded him for this once while strenuously chopping trees, his favorite sport. Oscar stood looking on, and seeing this the Emperor stopped chopping and said: "Oscar, how immaculately clean you are; a model man in a model uniform. Please help me pile up these heavy woodblocks."

STAINED UNIFORM

Oscar's uniform was covered with stains in no time.

"I think it must have been an awful clumsy sight, because suddenly the Emperor roared with laughter and told me it was enough."

"Oscar," the Emperor said, "Just realize that one minute you are everything and the other you are just plain nothing."

In the 18 years he worked as Wilhelm's chauffeur, Oscar knew the Kaiser to be a man who could easily fly off the handle, but, who was also a modest and pleasant person to deal with.

When the Second World War was looming in 1940, Oscar heard the Emperor mumble to himself: "This time it will be terrible."

Oscar was drafted into the Army. In the lobby of the imperial mansion he took leave of Wilhelm, who shook hands with his chauffeur and asked him to keep hold of himself.

LAST WORDS

His last words were: "Oscar, this might be the last time." Indeed these were the last words Hardeman was ever to hear from him.

A year later Wilhelm died on his estate at Doorn, on the 4th of July, 1941.

When Hardeman returned to Doorn there were German guards at the gates and German officers walked in and out of the richly furnished rooms.

"They made a habit of yelling at me, and I did not like it a bit. So once, when one of the officers was carrying on at the top of his voice, I got furious and told him: 'The German Emperor never treated me like this. I only wish you had just a little bit of his good manners.'

The officer blushed crimson and stammered that I should forget the whole matter; the war was acting on his nerves, he said.

"I was 18 when I went to work with the Emperor and I could talk on and on about my experiences," Hardeman says staring at two photographs made in the "golden days."

His future is that of gardener. Two nights a week he also works as a watchman on the Doorn estate.

Murder-Suicide Takes Five Lives

CLEVE. AND. Ohio (AP) — A young mother and her four sons were shot to death in their home late Thursday in what police said was murder-suicide.

Police said the mother shot her sons and then reloaded the gun and took her own life by firing a bullet into her forehead shortly after telling a friend in a telephone conversation that she intended to kill herself and her family.

Dead are: Doris Johnson, 27, and her sons, Donald, 7; Ronald, 5; Arnold, 3, and Ernest, 11 months.

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — A bus went off a viaduct on the Naples-Pompeii highway Thursday night and crashed 50 feet down into a ravine, killing 16 persons and injuring 29.

All aboard the bus were Italian except one British resident of the Naples area, Arthur Harris, 45. He was reported in serious condition.

Ceramic tile has moved into the kitchen as a countertop work surface. New epoxy tile adhesives and grouts have made it easier to install the tile, as well as provide resistance to heat, chemicals and stains.

The tiles can be installed over  $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch exterior grade plywood or over the previous surface as long as it is solidly attached. If plywood is used,  $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch gaps should be left between the sheets. These gaps are filled with epoxy setting material to insure that there is no shifting at a later time. The setting material also is spread on the plywood in a  $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch coat and the tile pressed firmly into it.

The mortar should be allowed to set overnight, after which epoxy grouting material is spread on the face of the tiles and into the joints with a trowel or a putty knife with a wide blade. The surplus epoxy is washed off the face of the tiles and off the trowel or knife with warm water.

Actually, there are two types of epoxy mortar, one known as AAR-11, the other as UG-11. Either can be used for both setting the tiles and for grouting. They are made by different manufacturers in different brands, so it's a good idea to check the label for precise instructions on its use. No matter what kind you get, it will come in part-part packages, with the smaller unit being added to the larger unit and stirred in just prior to using.

Ceramic mosaic tile comes in square and rectangular shapes either one inch or two inches in size. Extra-duty glazed tile usually is  $\frac{1}{4}$  inches square. Either can be used on kitchen countertops and back-splash units. Various colors and designs are available.

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — The Lancaster County Court has ordered the state to reinstate the driver's license of Ray Myers, armless since birth.

Myers, 54, who has been driving only with his feet for 29 years and never has been in an accident for which he was blamed, had lost his license in November.

A computer in the Bureau of Motor Vehicles in Harrisburg threw out his application for a renewal.

He took a fresh driving test on Jan. 23.

The order would be tried by military court.

SISTER GIVEN CUSTODY OF BRANDO CHILD

By JAMES BACON

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)

— From the strife of one of Hollywood's stormier marriages to the tranquillity of farm life in Illinois—

This is the change of worlds awaiting the six-year-old son of Marlon Brando and Anna Kashfi, following a court ruling Thursday at the end of one of filmdom's longest custody battles.

Miss Kashfi exploded at the decision which gave Brando temporary custody of Christian Devi on condition that he be raised by Brando's elder sister, Frances Loving, in Mundelein, Ill.

"IS THIS JUSTICE?"

Miss Kashfi stormed out of the courtroom, banging doors, and outside the courthouse told a newsman: "This baby is my whole life, I bore him. Where in the hell was Marlon Brando when the child was being brought up?"

"And now a judge gives him to a woman I don't even know. Is this justice?"

The actress, her eyes dark, said: "I am not through fighting. I will subpoena the judge and whole — damn court."

Mrs. Loving testified at the five-day trial. She's active in the PTA and her husband has been president of the local Board of Education. He's an instructor at the Chicago Art Institute.

FAVOR MOVE

Brando not only agreed to the move but actually suggested it to Superior Court Judge Lawrence J. Rittenbrand.

"I don't want my son to grow up in the unreal world that is Hollywood. I don't want him to have to live up to the sensationalized image of his father."

The trial was punctuated by spicy testimony. Charges of unnamed nude bed partners were hurled by both sides.

And Brando himself declared that he married Miss Kashfi in 1957 only "because she was with child and I wanted to give the boy a proper beginning in life."

START JOB TRAINING

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — The Greater Chester Movement is starting a large-scale job-training program to aid school dropouts and the unemployed.

William Coopersmith, a member of the movement's Manpower Mobilization Committee, announced Thursday in a report to the Steering Committee that the Movement is purchasing a building for this purpose, for $75,000.

CHILD KILLED

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Gary Trent Jr., 2½, of Chambersburg R. 4, was struck by a car and killed Thursday when he ran across the Edenville Road, state police reported.

Police said the driver of the car was George P. Paxton, 72, also of Chambersburg R. 4.

TEN PLAYERS FINED $1,500

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) —

Ten members of three American Hockey League teams have been fined $1,500 for fighting with fans during games.

Jack Riley, AHL president, announced the fines Thursday and said they resulted from fights during the Cleveland-Buffalo game last Sunday and a Rochester-Quebec game.

Buffalo Bison General Manager Fred Hunt was fined $100 and Coach Phil Watson $250 for participation in the conflict Sunday.

Cleveland players who received fines were: Player-Coach Fred Glover, $275; defenceman Bill Needham, $200; Howie Glower, $125, and Dick Mattioli, $100.

Needham also was suspended for three games. This was the second time this season Needham was fined for fighting with a fan. He was fined $200 following a fracas in Hershey November 11.

Four Quebec players received fines. They were Coach Bernie Geoffrion, $200; and Doug Harvey, Brian Watson and Germain Gagnon, $100 each.

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Lafayette Jamison, dean of students at Virginia Union University, says officials hope to expand a student exchange program with Bucknell University to include faculty members. Jamison made the statement Thursday as Virginia Union, a Negro university, selected six students to visit Bucknell March 4-7, including Calvin Jones of Philadelphia. Bucknell students will come to Virginia Union April 1-4.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An ordinance requiring the registration of firearms was reported out favorably by City Council's Public Safety Committee Thursday — a week after a 17-hour public hearing on the ordinance. An amendment was adopted to reduce the registration license fee from $5 to $1.

AGED BARBER HAS 4 OTHER JOBS IN TOWN

Camera News

By IRVING DESFOR
The Associated Press

At this time of year, camera fans have a chance to look at the annual roundup of "the world's finest photographs" in a handy format. At hand are "Photography Annual 1965," choice of Bruce Downes and editors of Popular Photography magazine, and "U.S. Camera International Pictures 1965," the selection of Tom Maloney and associate editors of U.S. Camera magazine.

While Charlie clipped, I asked questions.

Seems Charlie — an aged but amazingly spry jack-of-all-trades, puts in days young bucks envy.

Not only is he the only barber in this tiny ranch community of Lavina—he is city clerk, police judge, insurance agent and justice of the peace.

In his spare time he does "a little farmin'" — 160 acres of wheat!

Charlie isn't holding down honorary jobs — he vetoes them: "too little time for jobs that don't pay."

Elsie, his wife and "the woman I've been livin' with for 59 years," holds down that end; she's furnished community music 30 years at dances, funerals and weddings.

SPARKLING EYES

Thick white hair and sparkling blue eyes decorate the crown of this "six foot but settlin'" man. Droll, worldly comment splices his soft humorous monologue.

"Guess everybody's gotta pull so much foolishness in life; every generation says the kids are going to the dogs but—the dogs are still waiting."

Charlie's JP court is busy—he fined overloaded truckers $1,300 one winter month. But, with kids and townfolk, he's "not too hard on fines; usually try to give 'em a talkin' to and that does it. We don't have city trouble here."

Awhile back, he had a tough decision.

A local parent was arrested for giving beer to a minor. "Law wanted me to fine 'em $100. Nope. With two kids and Christmas comin', it didn't seem right."

Charlie's advice on living? "Just keep your mind and body busy. And—mind your vitamins."

Singer Is Buried To Own Gospels

ADDISON, Ala. (AP) — Gospel singer S. Whit Denson sang at his own funeral. Relatives arranged that two recordings by Denson be played at his funeral service. The selections, "I Won't Turn Back" and "New Morning Sun," were favorites of the 74-year-old singer. Each recording was a quartet — with Denson singing all four parts and also playing the piano. He had requested that they be included in the service.

BATTLE COMMENCES — British and American, left, chess teams meet in the 16th International Chess Olympiad in Tel Aviv. Each table is equipped with clocks to time moves and duration of match. At front, British player leads a pawn to open his match.

Laxed, unpreoccupied mind. That is, a difficult thing to achieve these days. Once you put yourself in contact with a picture without thinking of other things, take your time. Study expressions, gestures, the play of light, textures.

KENNEDY PICTURES
A visual tribute to the late President Kennedy is given in both annuals. In U.S. Camera 1965, it takes the form of a news picture review of his presidential career. In Photography Annual, a series of pictures by Hy Peskin reveals Kennedy in sensitive, romantic candids with Jackie on Cape Cod. Individually, each section is an episode; together they complement each other to make a more rounded picture of a noteworthy American president.

Photographs, like people, sometimes have to be seen more than once to be appreciated, says Goldsmith. And you should make an effort to look at pictures which normally do not appeal to you in order to broaden your experience. Make an honest attempt to see the good qualities that others have found or discovered whether you have some prejudice or aesthetic or emotional blind spot in yourself.

Finally, look at photographs with a spirit of adventure, seek your own response to them and form your own opinion. Remember, you are sharing a photographer's vision and through his picture your own vision is brighter and broader.

Okay, Arthur, I'll go back and give the pictures that exasperate me another look.

Does your camera retreat into hibernation when winter makes its presence felt?

Recent news stories show that heavy snows are a mixed blessing. They leave a mantle of white which beautifies but also ties up roads and isolates communities. In both cases they make picture stories . . . pictorial or news pictures. Either way, cameras should come into action.

We are all aware of how our immediate world changes even after a light snowfall. It transforms familiar objects and products into something new.

Actress With Genuine Accent Has Difficulty Finding Jobs

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures Writer
People think a delightful European accent is profitable for an actress in the theater, but they're wrong, says well-known character actress, Lilia Skala, a grandmother.

For Lilia, a refugee from Austria, it has been a long time between theater jobs in the 25 years she has been in the United States. She has worked at just about everything to keep herself going.

Truth, her role as a nun in the Academy Award-winning "Lilies of the Field" brought her a nomination for the award too. But roles like that are hard to come by, she says, because "it is much easier to give an American actress an accent than to hire an actress with a real accent."

FIRST ENGINEER

"American producers shy away from using foreign-born people because there are areas of the country where foreign accents have become Americanized with a particular type of inflection, so they'd rather have American actresses speak that way."

An actress can get along with a British accent, she says. It is pretty much the same wherever it is spoken. If she is a romantic French type, she could do fine. But few stories are written requiring actresses like Lilia with Austrian accents.

Lilia became an actress in Austria after the birth of her first child. Before that she was the first woman architectural engineer in Austria, she says. She apprenticed as a bricklayer one summer as part of her course at Dresden University and learned a membership in their guild.

She hasn't had to resort to masonry in the United States, although her Jill-of-all-trades career has continued.

FOUGHT HARD

She has sold slide fasteners, worked as a store clerk; operated a machine served as bus "boy" waitress, and sold mutual funds. When she was nominated for the Academy Award she was working as a file clerk at New York's City Center Theater.

A handsome woman past the middle years, Lilia has fought hard to be an actress and has often been terribly disappointed.

For example her first stage role here was a Swiss housekeeper in "Letters to Lucifer." But it was ill-timed. A peace time play, it had its dress rehearsal on the day of Pearl Harbor. Things went on that yourself, who will?"

The Weeder's Guide

By EARL ARONSON

The Associated Press

What is your garden IQ? A garden chemical and equipment company recently polled 400 homeowners and came up with some low-powered results and strange answers.

Only 9 per cent knew the significance of the numbers in the various fertilizer preparations—nitrogen, phosphorus and potash. Three per cent were aware of the purpose of each of these elements.

Many gardeners depend on their fertilizer supplier to furnish the proper formula after explaining their needs, and usually get what they require. For instance, 5-10-5 on the bag of fertilizer means 5 per cent nitrogen, 10 per cent phosphorus and 5 per cent potash.

We've described the benefits from each of the elements in the past, but they warrant repeating.

NITROGEN NEEDS

Nitrogen is one of the essentials for plant growth. It is especially necessary to build rich, green leafy vegetables and lawns.

Ordinary air is composed roughly of 78 per cent nitrogen, 20 per cent oxygen, 1 per cent argon and .02 of 1 per cent carbon dioxide. The carbon dioxide is of great importance to the leaf, which through its pores absorbs the air, with the carbon dioxide being absorbed by the cells of chlorophyll, the green coloring matter of leaves.

If leaves turn yellow, it is an indication of lack of nitrogen.

SIDE DRESSINGS

Often gardeners will give their plants a side dressing of nitrates as a booster.

Phosphorus promotes vigorous

MAJOR ROLE

But finally "Lilies of the Field" came along. Her recent role is that of a nun, this time a gentle one, in "Ship of Fools."

"You expose yourself to many humiliations when pursuing the career of an actress, but you can preserve your dignity," she advises young people. "You must know that you are the greatest talent that ever was."

But back to the poll (by Lawn-A-Mat).

About 20 per cent of those

ASF PLAN ON PA. ROADS MAY BE REJECTED

By JACK LYNCH

Associated Press Writer

HARRISBURG (AP) — A recommendation that Pennsylvania give 10,000 miles of its highways back to local government struck a blow at the heart of many a legislator this week.

It may even be fatal. Not to the legislators, but to a plan by the Automotive Safety Foundation for reclassifying the state's highways, roads and streets according to their importance.

Highways Secretary Henry D. Harral, as secretary of a legislative highway classification committee which had the $150,000 survey made, presented the report to the legislature this week. But he was careful to point out that the foundation quizzed did not know what aerating involved, or why it improved lawns. One man thought it means spraying the lawn with an air hose. Aerating is loosening the soil to permit oxygen, moisture and fertilizer to enter more readily and promote grass growth.

Eight per cent thought a fungus was an insect pest rather than a disease. And many lumped chinch bugs, grubs and sod web worms under a general category of "Japanese beetles."

"The balance of the state highways is paved, but many are old and in various degrees of deterioration," the report said.

It recommended a 33,500-mile state system, declaring that the legislature should "refrain from adding any routes to the existing system, except by request of the secretary of highways as needed to provide for relocations or new locations replacing existing routes."

Local government agencies received some $54 million as their share of the state's 7-cents-a-gallon gasoline tax in 1964—counties getting $16 million and municipalities $38 million.

Because the money is restricted to highway uses, many political subdivisions—particularly counties—find that they can't spend in a year what they get from the state and must have surpluses, some of them large.

WOULD REVISE FORMULA

The municipal money is distributed on a formula of 60 per cent road mileage and 40 per cent population, which means rural areas with considerable mileage get much more than big cities with comparable mileage. City legislators for years have been trying to revise the formula to a 50-50 basis, but rural lawmakers have fought them off.

County money is distributed on a 40-year-old formula that fails to take into consideration shifts in population.

The foundation recommendations would place emphasis on adding local roads to the state highway system in such large chunks every two years (797 miles in 1961 and 455 miles in 1963, for example) that Pennsylvania now has the fourth largest system in the nation.

Our state system of some 43,000 miles—about 40 per cent of the 110,127 miles of highways, turnpikes, city streets, and forest roads in the Commonwealth—is larger than the combined state systems of all of the New England states, New York, New Jersey and Maryland.

WOULD ADD MORE

There are bills in the legislature now to add even more miles to Pennsylvania's system, along with a few other measures for new bridges and a length of medial guard rail here and there.

Much of the mileage added in recent years is of poor quality and of little general use, but counties and municipalities like to escape responsibility of repaving, plugging potholes and clearing away the snow.

The foundation's report said that of the 42,513 miles of state highways in 1962, some 4,400 miles were earth, gravel, or stone surfaced roads. Another 7,300 miles had only a light

"The balance of the state highways is paved, but many are old and in various degrees of deterioration," the report said.

It recommended a 33,500-mile state system, declaring that the legislature should "refrain from adding any routes to the existing system, except by request of the secretary of highways as needed to provide for relocations or new locations replacing existing routes."

Local government agencies received some $54 million as their share of the state's 7-cents-a-gallon gasoline tax in 1964—counties getting $16 million and municipalities $38 million.

Because the money is restricted to highway uses, many political subdivisions—particularly counties—find that they can't spend in a year what they get from the state and must have surpluses, some of them large.

WOULD REVISE FORMULA

The men will be more comfortable on the platforms, he said, "because their quarters will be larger and they won't be bouncing up and down. Lightships ride rough when the wind gets up."

"But there will be only four men on a platform, compared with 16 on a lightship. The smaller number will provide less companionship and make platform duty monotonous."

Platforms are in operation at Buzzards Bay, Mass., and Providence, R. I. Others now being built will replace lightships off Savannah, Ga., and Wilmington, N. C.

A $3.5 million item in the budget for the next fiscal year will provide platform replacements for the Chesapeake Lightship, anchored 12 miles east of Cape Henry, Va., and the Diamond Shoals Lightship, 14 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras, N. C.

Average age of east coast lightships is about 35 years. Four of them are more than 50 years old. The Coast Guard says platforms will last longer than lightships, require fewer men and be easier to maintain.

COTTER LANDINGS

Platforms are not planned for the west coast because deeper water offshore there makes them impractical, a Coast Guard spokesman said.

Each platform will have a tower housing a lantern of 3.5 million candlepower. The roof of the crew's quarters will serve as a helicopter landing pad.

Dean said he would not like platform duty.

"It would be all right if the men could be removed from a platform long before the wind builds up," he said, "but freak storms come up quickly, and in such cases the only thing the men can do is sit there and hope the platform won't topple."

"Lightship duty is fairly good," said Dean. He has been hampered by bad weather.

Steel Platform Replaces Lightships On East Coast

By HARRY NASH

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) —

Life on the platforms will be more comfortable than it is on the lightships, but it will be monotonous, the skipper said.

Chief Warrant Boatsman Donald E. Dean, commanding officer of the Chesapeake Lightship, was talking about the four-legged steel platforms that gradually are replacing most of the lightships on the U.S. East Coast.

Dean, 37, sat in his cabin on the lightship, in port for her annual two-month period of dry-docking and maintenance.

TWO-WEEK LEAVES

Lightship crewmen get 14 days leave for 28 days aboard. They stand two four-hour watches in 24 hours. Five men are on leave at all times. The men are shuttled to and from their ships by Coast Guard cutters and patrol vessels, which also carry food and other supplies.

The Chesapeake Lightship, 680 gross tons, 133 feet long and 30 feet abeam, was built in 1930. The Diamond Shoals Lightship, 600 gross tons, 128 feet long and 30 feet abeam, was built in 1946.

A predecessor of the present Diamond Shoals Lightship was shelled and sunk by a German submarine in World War I.

On Aug. 6, 1918, the U-boat singled out a merchant ship a mile and a half northeast of the lightship, fired 40 shells at her and set her afire.

The lightship's wireless warned other nearby merchant ships of the submarine's presence. The submarine then shelled and sank the lightship, whose crew, uninjured, escaped in a lifeboat.

Twenty-five ships that heard the lightship's wireless warning took refuge in Lookout Point and escaped attack by the submarine.

Commons Visitors Hard On Carpets

LONDON (AP) — Britons are so eager to see where their laws are made that carpets in the House of Commons have had to be replaced twice since 1951, when the chamber was rebuilt after wartime bombing.

Richard Sharples, parliamentary secretary of the Ministry of Public Building and Works, told Parliament in answer to a question "at least four million members of the public have visited the building since the chamber was rebuilt.

"The carpet in the chamber has been replaced twice and carpets in lobbies once since the war," at a cost of 3,500 pounds ($9,000). Cleaning of the public parts and corridors of the Houses of Parliament costs $89,000 a year.

DESERT'S SNOWY COAT — Cactus stand shivering in the desert near Tucson, Ariz., where recently two inches of snow changed the color of the scene. As temperatures fell from 80s to 30s, a foot of snow was deposited on mountains ringing Tucson.

Hairdresser Puts Wife Through Medical School

By SUZANNE HOLDEN
NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Most loving husbands want their wives to have their heart's desire. When that desire happens to be a medical career instead of a mink coat, there's where you separate the men from the boys.

Kenny Cantarella put his wife, Pat, through medical school.

His view is: "I've always maintained that, just because a woman is married, her life doesn't end. Anything that makes her a better woman, a better wife, she should be encouraged to continue."

He believes Pat is a better woman and wife because of her career.

And few people know the depth of the moral and financial support he was ready to stake on this belief.

The vital appearing young man with the sentimental brown eyes is a hairdresser with his own business.

The decision made heavy demands on the emotions as well as the pocketbook. It meant a 300-mile separation. Married women have low priority on coed medical school acceptance lists and Pat, turned down at area schools, finally won acceptance at Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia.

HAD OWN BUSINESS

He'd have gone to Philadelphia, too. But he had an established business.

The Cantarellas' 10-month-old daughter, Cara, is the only baby in Norfolk who was born with a medical degree, he says.

Cara was three months on the way when her mother got her M.D. Pat, now serving her residency in pathology at De Paul Hospital where she also interned, is making up for lost time. She's expecting a second child.

The money problem reared its discouraging head a frequent intervals, Pat remembers.

"Kenny was actually keeping up two households. And the telephone bills," she said with a groan.

"I'd get lonesome for him and wonder if what I was doing was worth everything we were both going through, and I'd pick up the telephone. Those pep talks of Kenny's kept me going. I couldn't have done it without him."

CARED FOR BABY

The hard-working hairdresser would fly to Philadelphia as often as possible.

Time Zones Can Add Confusion

NEW VIRGINIA, Iowa (AP) — Mrs. Jean Felton of New Virginia says times do change, in many ways.

Recently, she had a dental appointment in not-too-far-away Des Moines for her daughter, Cynthia. Mrs. Felton left home at 1:45 p.m. daylight time to pick up Cynthia at school in nearby Urbandale at 1 p.m. standard time, and arrived in Des Moines in time for the appointment, at 3:15 p.m. daylight time.

Kenny says, "Sure, it's been hard on us. During her internship — she could only be home eight hours out of 48. I took care of Cara after the maid went home. But I enjoyed it. I feel if more fathers were forced to help care for their children, they'd be a lot closer."

Kenny gave the baby her first bath. "He just took over the minute we went home from the hospital," Pat said. It seemed perfectly natural to him. In fact, he was the one who was nervous when I started helping!"

"I work pretty nearly a regular schedule," she explains. "And a daytime one. The hours are longer than most people work, but I get home for dinner and the evening with Kenny and the baby. You can't ask for more than that when you're doing what you love most: in the world."

River No Longer Fit For Immersions

BRONSON, Fla. (AP) — Sometimes there isn't enough water in Asbell Creek to baptize a church convert, the Army engineers were told at a flood control hearing. State Sen. Ester Usher said the Asbell had historically been used by congregations in the area for baptismal purposes. But, he said, a drought occurred in 1955 and "since that time the creek cannot be depended on for baptizing. There's either too much water or too little."

The Asbell — sometimes — feeds the Waccasassa River which rises in north Florida's Gilchrist County and meanders through Levy County to Waccasassa Bay on the Gulf of Mexico.

The hearing was called to examine area problems created by the penchant of the Waccasassa and its tributaries for alternate flood and drought stages.

Atomic Analysis Nails Moonshiner

CHICAGO (AP) — Samples of soil scraped from the bottom of a tractor-trailer seized in New York containing 2,418 gallons of moonshine led to the arrest of a Georgia moonshiner.

Through the use of evidence based on atomic analysis, the U.S. attorney was able to prove to the satisfaction of judge and jury that illicit whiskey had been transported to New York from Georgia, according to Commerce Clearing House.

Soil samples were later collected around a still in Georgia, where government officials believed the illegal whiskey had been loaded onto the trailer.

Justice Department officials shipped samples of the soil to an atomic research institute in Maryland for activation analysis.

Brian Kelly Of TV Fame Flatters Flipper

By RUTH E. THOMPSON

"Dear Flipper: Just a note to recommend that you say a polite 'au revoir' to your handsome costar Brian Kelly. After all he's done 20 weeks of television programs with you plus two 'Flipper' films. Now give the guy your blessing, huh? So what's wrong with his wanting to make a movie without fish? . . . Oh? dolphins are NOT fish, they just look that way. They're sea-going mammals. OK, OK! So he wants to make a movie without a sea-going mammal for a change. But only for a change. When the six-week vacation — and the new movie — are over he'll be back swimming around with you for another season off the shores of Key West and the Bahamas."

NO LETUP

Meantime, there'll be no let-up in full color "Flipper" episodes on NBC 7:30 to 8 p.m. these coming Saturday nights. Kelly will be back flattering Flipper and liking it before the backlog runs dry. Yes, he does believe this scientific business about dolphins being brainy. Flipper it seems is a delight, but playful and cagey about getting "her" own way.

"Yes," Brian confirms. Contrariwise to Lassie who is a "him," Flipper is a female. But with a little coaxing and cajoling you can get around her.

Brian learned early to ingratiate himself by swimming alongside and sort of scratching and patting as though she were an aquatic dog.

MORE WORK

Brian isn't the only one who'll be taking a working vacation. It will undoubtedly mean a few more guest starring roles for the talented and glamorous Mrs. Kelly who as Laura Devon is much in demand. "Otherwise she'll take only an occasional really good role, and arranges her time to be in Florida with me since that's what my schedule demands," Brian explained. "She's a wonderful actress but she's also a wonderful cook."

Though handsome Brian Kelly likes to do a movie now and then he'll schedule only one during vacation from "Flipper." And yes, he agrees with the scientists. Dolphins are smart. Like Kelly, Luke Halpin, now 13, was in the original "Flipper" film. Tommy Norden, who plays the younger son, is now five. The color series is seen Saturdays, 7:30 p.m. on NBC.

They both, it seems, shun affectations. It's been Brian's long-time pattern. When he was a youngster his father was governor of the State of Michigan. What did he think of all the pomp?

WORKED LATE

Never thought of it that way at all, it seems. "I suppose my sharpest recollection is that of dedication to duty, of my mother sending me off to the State House where one light would be burning. My mother would be worried because he was working so late because he wasn't home for dinner.

"Even in the Executive Mansion, it was up to us to do our chores."

He certainly got a good start, for nowadays all six-feet-four of him radiates the joy of living.

And does anything make him unhappy? You bet it does. . . . "I wasn't bad at football . . . but." But hearing suddenly that he was the all-time salvation of Notre Dame or something. . . . "Well it can only lose me friends.

"Worse yet, though, is to hear that I was a hero frogman. It's true I got started on Scuba when I was in the Marines . . . but my old buddies would be entitled to wonder what's bitten me if they thought seriously that I myself am passing myself off as a Korean War hero. Distortion."

LIKES PORTER ROLE

The heartline of "Flipper," as you well know if you're keeping your eyes where NBC thinks you should Saturday nights at 7:30, is about a dolphin who makes friends with children and who's smart enough to come a-sloshing when his particular pet people, Sandy and Bud, blow a makeshift horn.

For a little extra "heart," though, the powers have cast Kelly, screen father to the two boys, as a widower. And that makes him fair game for at least a couple of romantic sagas per season.

"I really do lie my role, though," says Brian. "Porter Ricks, who's chief ranger for Coral Key Park is also very human. There's enough character in him to be a challenge to me. An example? Well, in an early episode he goes into a moral lecture to the boys, delivers a stern ultimatum, then, has to back down when he's night.

found somewhat deficient on the same score. He has the integrity to apologize, as he should, to the children. 'Guess I goofed,' is the way he puts it.

He's warm, too, in his praise of the boys, Luke Halpin (now 13, who's been Flipper's best friend since the first film in 1963) and Tommy Norden, five. "Nice kids. We really get along."

Incidentally, the lovable dolphin has an additional mission in life.

"Flipper the Skipper" as boatniks know has become a water safety counterpart of "Smoky the Bear." He (or rather, she) pops up in decal form on boats and on posters on safety literature. As a brochure explains Flipper is the official mascot and emblem of a national water safety campaign in which such organizations as the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, the Red Cross, the National Safety Council, "Y" organizations, and the U.S. Coast Guard are participating.

So, we'll be seeing lots of you in coming weeks Flipper. Around the beaches, around the lakes. And of course around the NBC channels on Saturday night.

COMPANIES TO HELP

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton says the state's research program into ways of curbing stream pollution from mine drainage will be bolstered by a $30,000 payment from coal-producing steel companies.

It is the second such grant for the program, now in its second year.

PERRY MASON MAY CONFRONT 'BONANZA'

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Perry Mason was busily confounding his old adversary Hamilton Berger, district attorney, Thursday night. But behind the cameras, his CBS overlords were deciding whether to pit the indomitable attorney against another old and familiar enemy — the Cartwright men of the Ponderosa.

It is expected that CBS will move the eight-year-old court-room drama into its Sunday schedule next season, in direct competition with NBC's Nielsen block-buster, "Bonanza," a spot where many shows have quietly died.

In the multimillion-dollar TV-chess game currently in progress, this is a fascinating move. For the first couple of years of "Bonanza's" life, it languished in the shadow of "Perry Mason" in a Saturday night spot.

BURR IS GRUMBLING

Then NBC moved it to a Sunday evening, where it perked up and for the past few seasons has consistently been one of the two top shows on television, according to Nielsen's national surveys. Later, CBS moved "Perry Mason" into Thursday night where the competition with "Dr. Kildare" has been tough.

Raymond Burr, who has been playing the title role through all these years, has been grumbling for the past two or three seasons, each time growing more vehement about his reluctance to continue in the program. By last August he had even convinced Gail Patrick Jackson, the former film star who is the show's executive producer, that he really wanted out. Mrs. Jackson, in fact, was considering a replacement for Burr and also preparing other Erle Stanley Gardner properties for television.

TOPS FOR WEEKEND

Now, it appears certain, Burr has agreed to a ninth season of "Perry Mason."

Recommended weekend viewing:

Tonight — "Hollywood Palace," ABC, 9:30-10:30 p.m. with Bette Davis as hostess.

Sunday — "The American Sportsman," ABC, 5-6 p.m. showing an African elephant hunt and pheasant shooting in America; "Return to Oz," NBC, 5:30-6:30, cartoon story based on the L. Frank Baum characters.

Empty Car Breaks Legs Of Driver

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mrs. Lillian Kanev, 52, about to babysit for her son, Charles, parked her car in his driveway at nearby Melrose Park Friday night, police report.

Police said when she stepped from the auto it started to roll backwards. The door apparently struck her, knocking her down and a front wheel ran over her legs, police said.

She suffered possible fractures of both legs and was taken to Abington Memorial Hospital where she was reported in good condition.

Nutritious dip for raw vegetables such as radishes, carrot or celery sticks: creamstyle cottage cheese blended (in an electric blender) with a tablespoon of lemon juice, a dash of salt and minced fresh dill or dried dill weed.

Boy With Bad Heart Badly Beaten

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Charles Edwards, 16, whose heart has been operating for two years on an artificial valve, was badly beaten Friday night by several youths, police report.

Edwards was admitted to Philadelphia General Hospital in critical condition after a young girl, who witnessed the beating, summoned a passerby, police said.

The girl, Margaret Ponzell, 14, was quoted as telling police that Edwards had been dragged around a two-block area by youths who attacked him several times.

Hospital authorities said the boy had a record indicating a delicate heart operation two years ago, during which the artificial valve was inserted.

2 DEMOCRATS JOIN SCRANTON ON RESOLUTION

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Scranton Administration announced plans Friday for a bipartisan resolution aimed at making geography as well as population a factor in reapportioning one house of the state legislature.

The governor said he would introduce his proposal next week in the House under the sponsorship of Reps. Donald W. Fox, R-Lawrence; R. Lawrence Coughlin, R-Montgomery; Percy G. Foor, R-Bedford; Russell E. Headlee, D-Greene, and Erwin L. Murray, D-Cameron.

The action on the part of Headlee and Murray represents a major bolt from 1964 Democratic platform which staunchly endorsed the principle of "one-man, one-vote" set down by the U.S. Supreme Court.

MORSE UNRUFFLED

But Democratic State Chairman Otis B. Morse predicted that nothing would come of the fact that two Democrats have joined the administration in sponsoring the proposal.

"I am certain that sufficient Democratic House members will support their party platform and the U.S. Supreme Court's edict by blocking action on the resolution," Morse said.

Object of the governor's proposal is to call on Congress to amend the Federal Constitution, allowing at least one house of each bicameral state legislature to reapportion itself on the basis of factors other than population.

UNDER COURT ORDERS

However, such an amendment would require ratification of 3/4 of the 50 states within seven years after its submission before taking effect.

The Pennsylvania General Assembly, meanwhile, has been ordered by the State Supreme Court to redistrict on a strict population basis by Sept. 1.

The state high court ruled unconstitutional the reapportionment acts passed by the House and Senate in 1963.

The Scranton plan would change the guidelines for redistricting by allowing at least one house to organize on other factors, provided the plan is submitted and approved by the electorate of the state before it takes effect.

Don't hesitate to put a fresh pork roast on your rotisserie; cooked this way, the meat will need about one-third less time than when oven-roasted at a 325-degree temperature (185 degree internal temperature).

Councilmen Down Shopping Cart Fine

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP) — People who walk with shopping carts at food centers narrowly escaped a proposed city ordinance to control these cart dis- carders.

The City Council instructed Corporation Counsel Murray Conzelman to draft an ordinance aimed at fines for both grocery store owners and customers. It would require a $10 recovery fee.

Alderman agreed that something should be done to discon- tinue the practice of leaving carts in the middle of streets and on private property.

Aldermen voted down the ordi- nance by a 9 to 7 margin.
